

Women Authorities of the PAIGH

Alexandra Alvarado Cevallos
(Ecuador)

He is Vice President of the Geophysics Commission for the 2018-2025 term of the PAIGH.

She holds a PhD in Earth, Universe, and Environmental Sciences from the University of Grenoble, France. She is Vice-Rector for Research, Innovation, and Outreach at the Polytechnic School of Ecuador. She was Director of the Department of Geophysics and Head of the Seismology Area at the Geophysical Institute.

She collaborated on the seismic microzonation of the city of Portoviejo. Scientific and technical manager of Seismic Risk in Ecuador: Mitigation, Anticipation, and Knowledge of Earthquakes (REMAKE).

Specialist in early warning systems and natural risk management, in the development of decision-making tools for seismic and volcanic threats for the National Risk Management System.

“Science in the Service of Peace”